LGX DWDM is a passive module that requires no power or configuration, making it a plug-and-play solution. It is packaged in an LGX (Lucent Generic eXchange) industry-standard metal chassis or cassette designed to slide easily into rack-mount panels. Available in multiple sizes, it can also be custom-made to fit specific rack layouts. The LGX DWDM module comprises Telcordia®-compliant PLC components or thin film filters, depending on the channel count, with optimized low loss and high isolation performance. It offers wide channel bandwidth, flexible channel configurations, low insertion loss, and high isolation. Designed for both long-haul and metro access applications, this Mux/Demux module represents the state of the art in fiber optic design. It multiplexes and demultiplexes multiple DWDM wavelengths with 100GHz channel spacing into ring or point-to-point networks, making it ideal for telecommunications and networking applications. Once assembled and terminated, each module is fully tested for environmental, mechanical, and optical integrity.
